

GTU PREVIOUS YEAR QUESTIONS UNIT4

Q.1 Types of Meta (Facebook/Instagram) Ads

Meta Ads can be used on platforms such as Facebook and Instagram to reach specific audiences.

Ad Type	Brief Description
1. Image Ads	Simple ads using a single image with text, headline, and call-to-action (CTA).
2. Video Ads	Ads using videos to demonstrate products, explain services, or tell a story.
3. Carousel Ads	Display multiple images or videos in one ad that users can swipe through.
4. Collection Ads	Combine a cover image/video with multiple products, allowing users to browse products directly.
5. Stories Ads	Full-screen vertical ads shown between Facebook or Instagram Stories.
6. Reels Ads	Short, vertical video ads that appear within Instagram and Facebook Reels.
7. Lead Ads	Allow businesses to collect information such as name, email, or phone number directly through a Meta form.
8. Messenger Ads	Ads designed to start or encourage conversations with customers through Messenger.
9. Instant Experience Ads	Full-screen mobile experiences that open within Meta when a user interacts with an ad.
10. Shopping/Product Ads	Promote products from a catalogue and allow users to explore product details and, where supported, proceed toward purchase.

Two Important Use Cases

1. Product Promotion / Sales

A clothing company can use Carousel or Collection Ads to display several products—such as shirts, jeans, and shoes—and direct users to its online store.

Goal: Increase product discovery and online sales.

2. Lead Generation

A college, real-estate company, insurance company, or coaching institute can use Lead Ads to collect potential customers' names, phone numbers, and email addresses without requiring them to leave Facebook or Instagram.

Goal: Generate leads that the sales or admission team can contact later.

In simple terms:

- 👉 Image/Video/Reels Ads → Awareness & engagement
- 👉 Carousel/Collection/Shopping Ads → Product promotion & sales
- 👉 Lead Ads → Collect customer enquiries

Q2. Choose any brand and describe how it can use video marketing to promote a new product/service, outlining at least two specific video formats.

Example: Nike – Video Marketing for a New Product

Suppose Nike launches a new smart running shoe designed to improve running comfort and performance. Nike can use video marketing to create awareness, demonstrate the product, and encourage customers to purchase it.

Two Specific Video Formats

1. Product Demonstration Video

Nike can create a 30–60 second video showing the shoe's features, such as cushioning, lightweight design, durability, and smart tracking technology.

The video can demonstrate how the shoe performs during running.

It can be shared on YouTube, Instagram, Facebook, and the Nike website.

Use: Educates customers and helps them understand why the new product is useful.

2. Influencer/Testimonial Video

Nike can collaborate with professional athletes, fitness influencers, or runners.

They can record themselves using the new shoe and explain their experience, comfort, and performance.

Short versions can be published as Instagram Reels, YouTube Shorts, and Facebook videos.

Use: Builds trust and encourages potential customers to try or purchase the product.

Overall Video Marketing Strategy

Nike can combine product demonstration + influencer/testimonial videos with a strong call-to-action such as “Discover the New Nike Running Shoe” or “Shop Now.”

This approach helps Nike move customers through the marketing funnel:

Awareness → Product Understanding → Trust → Purchase.

Q3. What are promoted tweets, promoted accounts, and promoted trends on Twitter?

Promoted Ads on Twitter/X

Twitter, now called X, offers different advertising formats that businesses can use to reach a larger audience.

Type	Description	Example
1. Promoted Tweets (Promoted Posts)	Regular tweets/posts that advertisers pay to show to a larger or targeted audience. They look similar to normal posts but are marked as Promoted/Ad .	A smartphone company promotes a post announcing its new phone to people interested in technology.
2. Promoted Accounts	Advertisers pay to recommend their Twitter/X account to users who are likely to be interested in it, helping increase followers.	A new clothing brand promotes its account to fashion enthusiasts to gain followers.
3. Promoted Trends	Advertisers pay to place a hashtag or topic prominently in the Trending section for a specific period. This encourages users to discuss or interact with the topic.	A movie studio promotes #NewMovieRelease to create buzz around a newly released film.

In Simple Words

- Promoted Tweets → Promote a message/content
- Promoted Accounts → Promote an account and gain followers
- Promoted Trends → Promote a hashtag/topic and create buzz

Note: X has changed its advertising products and terminology over time, so these are best understood as the traditional Twitter advertising formats commonly discussed in digital-marketing courses.

Q4. In what ways does video content enhance engagement on social platforms?

Video content is one of the most effective ways to attract users and encourage interaction on social media platforms such as Instagram, Facebook, YouTube, and X.

1. Captures Attention Quickly

Videos combine visuals, sound, animation, and movement, making them more noticeable than plain text or static images.

Example: A 15-second product video can quickly show how a new smartphone works.

2. Increases Likes, Comments and Shares

Interesting or entertaining videos encourage users to like, comment, share, and react, increasing overall engagement.

3. Makes Information Easier to Understand

Complex information can be explained through demonstrations, animations, and tutorials.

Example: A software company can use a short video to demonstrate how to use a new feature.

4. Encourages Emotional Connection

Storytelling through video can create emotions such as happiness, excitement, trust, or empathy, helping audiences connect with a brand.

5. Improves Brand Awareness

Videos can showcase a brand's products, services, personality, and values, making the brand more memorable.

6. Encourages User Participation

Formats such as Reels, Shorts, live videos, polls, challenges, and Q&A videos encourage users to actively participate.

7. Increases Time Spent on Content

Videos can keep users on a social-media post for longer because users watch the content rather than simply reading a few lines.

8. Supports Viral Marketing

Short, entertaining, useful, or emotional videos can be easily shared, allowing content to reach new audiences organically.

Q6. Create a simple SEM strategy for a local restaurant, specifying the campaign type (e.g., Search or Local Ads), target keywords, and a compelling ad copy mockup

Let's consider a fictional restaurant called "Taste of Gujarat", a local restaurant offering Gujarati and North Indian food.

1. Campaign Type: Google Search Ads

Objective: Attract nearby customers who are actively searching for a restaurant and increase table bookings, phone calls, and directions.

Target Location: Within 5–10 km of the restaurant.

Target Audience: Local residents, office workers, families, and tourists looking for nearby dining options.

2. Target Keywords

Use keywords showing strong local and purchase intent:

- "Gujarati restaurant near me"
- "best Gujarati restaurant in [City]"
- "Gujarati thali near me"
- "family restaurant near me"
- "best thali restaurant"
- "North Indian restaurant near me"
- "restaurant near me"
- "Gujarati food [City]"

Use phrase/exact matching where appropriate and add negative keywords such as "recipe," "jobs," "free," and "how to make" to reduce irrelevant clicks.

3. Ad Copy Mockup

Headline 1: Authentic Gujarati Thali

Headline 2: Taste of Gujarat – Near You

Headline 3: Book Your Table Today

Description:

"Enjoy authentic Gujarati & North Indian cuisine made fresh every day. Family-friendly dining, great taste & easy parking. Book your table now!"

CTA: Book Now | Call Now | Get Directions

4. Local Ads Strategy

In addition to Search Ads, the restaurant can use Google local-focused advertising to increase visibility among people nearby. The ads can highlight:

- Restaurant location
- Opening hours
- Phone number
- Directions
- Customer reviews
- Food photos

5. Success Metrics

Metric	Purpose
CTR	Measures how many people click the ad
CPC	Measures cost per click
Calls	Measures phone enquiries
Directions	Measures local interest

Metric	Purpose
Table Bookings	Measures actual conversions
Cost per Conversion	Measures advertising efficiency

Q7. Define Return on Ad Spend (ROAS) and explain how it helps in campaign decision-making

Return on Ad Spend (ROAS)

ROAS (Return on Ad Spend) is a digital marketing metric that measures how much revenue a business generates for every ₹1 spent on advertising.

Formula

$$ROAS = \frac{\text{Revenue generated from ads}}{\text{Advertising cost}}$$

Example

Suppose a restaurant spends ₹20,000 on Google and Instagram ads and generates ₹80,000 in sales from those ads.

$$ROAS = \frac{₹80,000}{₹20,000} = 4$$

So, the ROAS is 4:1, meaning the restaurant generated ₹4 in revenue for every ₹1 spent on advertising.

How ROAS Helps in Campaign Decision-Making

1. Measures campaign effectiveness
Helps determine whether advertising is generating sufficient revenue.
2. Compares different campaigns
For example, if:
 - Facebook Ads → ROAS = 2.5
 - Google Ads → ROAS = 5.0

The business may consider allocating more budget to Google Ads.

3. Helps optimize advertising budget
Campaigns with higher ROAS can receive more budget, while poor-performing campaigns can be modified or stopped.
4. Supports product and audience decisions
Marketers can identify which products, keywords, audiences, or advertisements generate the best returns.
5. Helps determine profitability
A high ROAS generally indicates efficient ad spending, but the required ROAS depends on the business's profit margin and other costs.

Q8. Explain the importance of Ad Extensions in Google Ads. Describe and provide an example for any three types of ad extensions

Importance of Ad Extensions in Google Ads

Ad Extensions are additional pieces of information added to a Google Search Ad, such as a phone number, website links, location, or special offers.

They make ads more useful, visible, and attractive, helping users quickly find the information they need.

Importance of Ad Extensions

1. Increase Ad Visibility – Extensions make the advertisement larger and more prominent on the search results page.
 2. Improve Click-Through Rate (CTR) – Additional relevant information can encourage users to click the ad.
 3. Provide More Information – Users can directly see links, phone numbers, locations, offers, etc.
 4. Improve User Experience – Customers can take actions such as call, visit a location, or go directly to a specific webpage.
 5. Can Improve Ad Performance – Relevant extensions can contribute to better ad prominence and performance.

Three Types of Ad Extensions

1. Sitelink Extension

Description:

Adds additional links below the main advertisement, directing users to specific pages of a website.

Example: For an online clothing store:

Ad: Buy Sustainable Clothing – EcoWear

Sitelinks:

- Women's Collection
- Men's Collection
- New Arrivals
- Contact Us

Use: Helps customers directly access the section they are interested in.

2. Call Extension

Description:

Adds a phone number or call option to the advertisement so customers can contact the business directly.

Example:

Ad: ABC Restaurant – Authentic Gujarati Food

Call: 📞 Call 98765 43210

Use: Particularly useful for local businesses such as restaurants, clinics, hotels, and service providers.

3. Location Extension

Description:

Shows the business location/address and can help users find the physical store through Google Maps.

Example:

Ad: Taste of Gujarat – Gujarati Restaurant

 SG Highway, Ahmedabad

Get Directions

Use: Very useful for local businesses because customers can easily find and visit the physical location.

Summary

Extension	Main Purpose	Example
Sitelink	Direct users to specific webpages	"New Arrivals"
Call	Encourage phone calls	"Call Now"
Location	Help customers find the business	"Get Directions"
